HANDLOOM WEAVING SAREES

crafted for eternity

"There is a thin line between love and obsession. And that line is need. Obsession drives us to need, to possess, to consume. Love is unconditional, but it is selfish - selfless and mature. Some of us exist forever in the middle, always needing and forever consumed by our desires. It is rare that marks our spot - as little beacons of light leading us deeper and deeper into our true selves, sometimes of innocence, sometimes of clarity."

Crafted for creativity

There is a thin line between love and obsession. Until that line is crossed. Obsession drives us to love, to possess, to control. Love is uncontrollable, but it is softness - it gives and it nurtures. Some of us exist forever in the middle, always needing and forever consumed by our desires. It is a state that marks our souls as little hearts of light, the deepest despair and the greatest joy, our trinity, all at once, sometimes destructive, sometimes uplifting.
