

A woman is shown in a close-up portrait, wearing a traditional Indian outfit. She has a bindi on her forehead and is adorned with a large, ornate headpiece (maang tikka) and matching earrings, both featuring pink and gold elements. She is wearing a dark red or maroon sari with a gold border and a gold dupatta with intricate floral patterns. Her right hand is raised, holding a large, ornate ring. The background is a warm, golden-brown color with a circular, geometric pattern that creates a shadow effect. The overall lighting is soft and warm, highlighting the textures of the fabric and the details of the jewelry.
