In the way of the mountains, we should be happy to see an abundance of joy with it. It is a joy to see that we are not in the mountains but in the way of the mountains. It is a joy to see that we are not in the mountains but in the way of the mountains. It is a joy to see that we are not in the mountains but in the way of the mountains.

01

At peace if you bring comfort. At night if you bring calm. At morning if you bring bliss. Your soul and you are waiting companions, united in illustrating the pain and the sorrow of the world from the silence and the misery which pervades it. From your serene grace, love is born and from your quest, it spreads across the world.
