

Pallu

A photograph of a folded piece of fabric, likely a blouse, resting on a light-colored, textured surface. The fabric features a vertical striped pattern in shades of orange and green. A prominent horizontal band of a different material, possibly silk or satin, runs across the middle of the fold, showing a shimmering, metallic sheen. Below this band, there is a solid green section. The fabric is neatly folded, and a white, rounded rectangular label with the word "Blouse" printed in black is centered on the orange section. The background consists of a light grey, textured surface and a portion of a brown and green striped fabric in the bottom right corner.

Blouse