

The background of the entire image is a soft, textured pink. It features several lotus flowers in various stages of bloom. One flower in the upper left is a tight bud. Another in the middle right is fully open, showing a yellow stamen and a brown seed pod. A third in the lower left is also open, and a fourth in the lower right is partially open. Large, dark green leaves with prominent veins are scattered throughout, some showing signs of aging with yellowish edges. The overall style is that of a fine art painting, possibly in watercolor or gouache.
