

The beauty of a woman must be seen from in her eyes, because that is the door way to her heart, the place where love resides.

