

The image features a textured, painterly background in various shades of green, ranging from light sage to deep forest green. The texture is created with visible brushstrokes and some areas where the green paint is layered over a lighter, possibly white or cream, base. In the lower right corner, there is a vertical strip of a different material, possibly a book cover or endpaper, which is a reddish-brown color with a small, repeating circular pattern. The word "BLOSSOM" is centered horizontally across the middle of the image in a large, bold, black serif font.
